A beautiful growing season followed by a cooler August set the stage for a remarkable showing for our grapes grown on the Estate. Built around two different plantings on the Estate, one south-facing and the other east facing, the aromatics are delicate but complex.

Orange blossom, roasted almond, and raw vanilla bean unfold in the glass—with patience there are hints of more. A slow, cool growing season has produced a palate with an inherent density that is framed by salinity and freshness. This wine is sophisticated in its youth yet hints to a strong showing for years to come.
